TELSTAR FIELD HOCKEY SPLITS FOR THE WEEK

The field hockey team went .500 last week as they lost to Sacopee Valley Wednesday in sudden death overtime, and defeated Gorham, N. H., Friday.

Chris Davis scored the only goal for the Rebels Wednesday, even though the team had 23 shots on goal. In the overtime period the Rebels had a goal called back on a high stick to force the second overtime period. Sacopee scored four minutes into that period to bring the final score to 2-1 in their favor.

In Friday's home opener, Georgia Gould lead the scoring with 5 while Chris Davis added one more to make the final score 6-0. Assists went to Vicki Dyer and Chris Davis. Gorham had 11 shots on goal but Jodi Seidell and Penny York shared the shut out when they couldn't find the net.

The JV's tied Sacopee Wednesday 2-2 with both scores coming from Elayna Tate. Friday the team won 2-1 with Darcie Witter scoring twice.

Both teams will be playing Saturday at the Telstar field. Come support your team.

B.E.A.R.S. TOP FIRE DEPT.

IN SUNDAY SIZZLER

Members of the Bethel Rescue unit squared off against the Bethel Fire Dept. in a sizzling hot softball game on Sunday afternoon. The score was nip and tuck throughout the game, but around the B.E.A.R.S. rallying in the bottom of the ninth inning to come out on top with a 22-21 victory. There was a good team effort from both teams.

Brown Resigns District #63 Seat in Maine House of Representatives

State Representative Karen L. Brown (R-Bethel) representing District 63 which includes Andover, Bethel, Byron, Gilford, Hanover, Hartford, Lincoln Plantation, Magalloway Plantation, Milton Township, Newry, Roxbury, Sumner, Upton, Woodstock, and Rangeley Plantation, has announced her resignation from the State Legislature, effective Sept. 20, 1983.

Ms. Brown in commenting on her resignation stated it was most difficult decision between continuing her public position and pursuing a career goal in the private sector. "The people need a full-time representative and this new position could not have given me enough time to adequately do the job the people deserve," she said.

"I have been able to meet with and listen to many of the people in my district," continued the four-term legislator. "I have received valuable input which has enabled me to go to Augusta confidently, with the knowledge that I went with the support of my constituents. The people of Western Maine are among the finest in the State."

Ms. Brown served on the Taxation Committee. She stated that experience in government which she has acquired over the last seven years is irreplaceable. "The trust and confidence the people placed in me at such an early age was something which I will always remember and treasure. I am proud of the fact that with the people's trust, confidence and friendship, we were able to forge a working partnership which made our government respond to the needs of the people. It is something which I will deeply miss," she concluded.

Special Town Meeting Date Set

In regular session Monday evening, Sept. 19, in the Town Office Meeting Room, the Board of Selectmen set Tuesday, Nov. 1, as the date to hold a Special Town Meeting to ask voters to change the Town's accounting year to July 1 through June 30 and convert to semi-annual tax billing. The Town is presently on the Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 accounting year. The primary reason for seeking this change to the Town's fiscal structure are:

(1) to reduce the need for interim borrowing each year; (2) improve cash flow; (3) to align the delivery of local services with those of the School District and State Government; and, (4) add convenience to taxpayers through smaller, semi-annual tax bills and a tax club.

Allowing for a transition period, the following plan outlines the major events of the new plan:

LOCKE MILLS

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

This morning there was a hint of frost in the air. A thin haze hung over the landscape. Festoons of cobwebs were swinging from posts, telephone wires, and on the grass.

The eerie call of a couple of owls shattered the silence from across the pond.

What a lovely day it turned out to be!

There was a hint of wood smoke in the air.

It brings recollections of days gone by—
That delicate smell of smoke—
And again I live in the far off days

Of childhood's innocent mirth
The days when life an eternity seemed

And Heaven was close to earth.”

Lee Mays

I took a short walk as I found time today.

Now the earth brings forth the riches of its bounty — grapes, pears, fragrant apples, and plums.

Entering the narrow road to Turtle Bridge I was facing the sun. From one side to the other the road was decorated with taut shining lines. They looked like silver threads but I recognized them as spider silk. Did you ever wonder how these wingless creatures stretch these threads across 10 feet of thin air? Of course this could not go among the weeds or bushes to the other side after attaching one thread to a bush. The silk would be entangled on the way. Then how is it done? Spider waits for a wind and then begins playing out its slender filament. Because it is so delicate it floats on the slightest breeze, as the spider extends the line. After enough has been spun to reach the opposite side it tangles on a twig and then is drawn taut. This makes a safe bridge for crossing. I put my forefinger against the middle of one strand and pulled toward me. It really was strong. When I let it go it went back into place. What a remarkable engineer and what a remarkable highway.

I continued my autumn wanderlust, wending my way to Turtle Bridge; no turtle in sight. But beyond I experienced the multi-colored panorama of September—goldenrod, asters, milkweed, cat-tails and puffballs. I didn't realize that puffball time had again come to the meadows. As the light hit them, they shone like snowballs.

WEST BETHELChildren's Center

What an exciting week. Twenty two new Head Start children in addition to the Day Care children, started school this week. They are adapting quickly. The staff is focusing on introductions the first few weeks, introducing themselves, activity areas, rules, large group times, small group times and meal time routine. It's great to know this first school experience can be made such an easy and natural one.

Here I left my "Smokeball" or "Devil's snuffbox" to turn toward home.

At the main road again, I noticed I was carrying something which I had collected at the side of the sand pit. So I lifted one foot to the nearest rock then the other where I laboriously picked off dozens of tiny bugs clinging to the legs of my trousers.

I picked a few blackberries to taste their sweetness.

Soon I arrived home facing a crisp breeze, the glitter on the pond, a few maples parading in red, to see my flowers still bright where I was alone with autumn.

The week end at the Hayes Homestead was a busy one. Terry Spires from New Hampshire came on Friday and stayed until Sunday morning. On Saturday Doris' sisters, Verna Libby and Lenora Waterhouse of Falmouth returned home after staying Friday night. For dinner Saturday noon there were Del Hayes, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hayes and family, West Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hayes, Gray; Terry Spires and Doris.

We visited Carl and Lettie Brooks in West Paris on Friday.

The little rain that came wasn't enough to help much.

We were in Belgrade the first of the week to visit with Ernest and Ina Mundt. They took us to see Mr. and Mrs. Roy Silver whom we hadn't seen in many years.*

David and Sally Holt and little Mary, Dexter; Ann Holt, Belgrade; enjoyed a harvest dinner with their father and mother, Leonas and Fay Holt, on Sunday. In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Sambor, Sabbathday Lake, and Clyde and I joined them.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis they have had various "doings". Lillian and Colista and families were there on Saturday from Freeport; Fred has spent a few days at Deer Isle and enjoyed fishing, Rena visited the Proctor Flower Garden in Wiscasset and reports it a treasure of beauty. She also enjoyed a cook-out with son, Albert, and family at East Sumner.

days. Learning packets for many subjects in the External Credit Option program have been received at the S.A.D. 44 Adult and Community Education office. Qualified students who are unable to participate in regularly scheduled classes may work with the External Credit Instructor using these materials, as they earn credits for their high school diploma.

Enrollments have been brisk in General Interest courses, with the classes in Computers, Antiques, and Kanata leading the way. Additional students are needed in some courses to insure that they will be offered, so those who are planning to enroll, or who wish to enroll late, are urged to call the S.A.D. 44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2136, immediately.

Sent in by Viva Whitman, Sunday River Road:

Monday was a good day, so started the week out right by going to town to do washing and other errands. When I got home, Russell had cut broccoli for me to take care of. He also picked the string beans again and we canned them. That makes quite a few pint jars of string beans for the winter.

Did not do too much Tuesday forenoon, but went to Rumford in the afternoon to visit Peggy in the hospital. Stopped at a few places on the way home to do errands. In the evening, Damarita Yates and daughter Eva called for a little while.

Wednesday morning, we were up and about early as I had to go to the Social Security office and also to Farmington to the doctor's.

It was a good day though cool. We took a picnic lunch along so we could eat when we got ready. We stopped at a picnic area this side of Farmington to eat, but decided we would be more comfortable sitting inside the car than out at the picnic table, as all of them were in the shade and with the wind blowing a little it was too cool in the shade. Got back to Rumford in time to go visit Peggy before going home. We didn't visit as long as usual because of the weather. Where it was so chilly, we decided we would play it safe and gather in the squash and pumpkins from the garden along with a few other things. We were glad that we did the next morning when we looked out to a frost-covered field and garden.

There would have been frost on the pumpkin alight Thursday morning if we hadn't gathered them in the night before. The thermometer registered a real cool 29° and the fires that Russell started felt real good. I'm afraid that Russell's beautiful flower gardens don't look so pretty any more. Old Jack Frost sure did a number on them. We hadn't gotten the cucumbers picked the night before, so Russell gathered all of those and picked the shell beans then started on the dry beans. It was a busy day for us here.

I forgot to say that we had a phone call Wednesday night from our sister-in-law, Grace Yates, of West Paris. She and Lawrence had just gotten home from their job driving truck, and plan to be there a week or two to get things in order. She said the truck needed a little doctoring and they planned to get wood ready for the winter as well. It was good to hear from her.

I had to do a little cooking on Friday. Somehow, the cookie bucket gets empty and I have to give it a refill. I expected my daughter to come to make pickles on Sunday and she likes to eat molasses cookies as well as Russell does, so I made up a batch of them. Whenever I had a few minutes, I shelved on the dry Wednesday: Home made vegetable-beef stew, celery sticks, peaches, home made roll and butter, milk.

Thursday: Hot dog in home-made bun, tater tots, cheese slice, salad, applesauce, milk.

Friday: Barbecued meat balls, buttered rice, green beans, peanut butter cookies, bread and butter, milk.

Ingredients into the canner with all the cukes and cauliflower and get the pickles cooking. It wasn't long before the spicy odor could be smelled all over the house. What a nice aroma it is! I have always liked to smell pickles cooking. I wondered if my granddaughter liked it as she sat and watched her mother and I at work. Of course, I had to play with her some of the time too. That part I really enjoy. Anyway, Wynona has a nice lot of pickles to take home with her plus a few vegetables, and that always makes her happy. We hadn't been able to give away some cukes we had left over, so Nonie took them home to try her luck at making pickles on her own. Hope she has good luck.

It looks like summer is about over for this year and we'll be having cooler weather, but before we know it, winter will be here and then gone so we can always look ahead to next summer.

dating back nearly 120 years.

Anchor Poor has spent most of his life at Bellevue, excluding the four years in the U. S. Army. He and his wife, Frances, have been there 37 years.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace attended by her sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Dooman and Miss Nancy

J. Stowell.

The bride wore a street length dress and matching jacket of white cotton eyelet trimmed with lace and lavender ribbon. She wore a low crown, trimmed with babies breath and ribbon, which had been worn by her mother. The bride carried an open lightship basket filled with white sweetheart roses, lavender freesia and babies' breath.

The reception was held at the Gordon Folger Hotel, Nantucket.
Attending were guests from Tacco-ma, Wash.; Virginia, Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

Fox is much better and back to his work.

Mrs. Genie Nelson and daughter,
Christa, of Winslow, visited
Vesta Nelson over the week end.
Her husband is away moose hunting.

Mrs. Grace Nelson is confined to her home with a bad cold.

ART EXHIBIT AT GOULD OPENS SATURDAY, SEPT. 24

On Saturday, Sept. 24, a new exhibit of pastels will open in the Owen Gallery at Gould Academy. A reception will be held on that day from 2 to 4 p. m., and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The artist whose works will be displayed is Elena John who lives in Brunswick. Ms. John is a graduate of Syracuse University with a BFA degree. She was a Fulbright scholar in France and later received her MFA degree from the University of Wisconsin. She has taught in several universities in the United States and Canada and is currently teaching at the University of Southern Maine. Ms. John is a member of the Maine State Commission for the Arts and Humanities and is the artist in residence for the Commission. In addition, Ms. John is associated with the Spindletwirlers Program in Brunswick and is a member of Barridoff Galleries in Portland. During the summer she lives on Monhegan Island.

This exhibit marks the start of a new season at the Owen Gallery and the opening reception falls on Saturday, Sept. 24 at Gould. The Owen Gallery is open daily, 9 a. m. until 3 p. m., and this show runs until Oct. 16.

TELSTAR'S SOCCER TEAM DEFEATED BY FRYEBURG

The Telstar varsity soccer team suffered its first setback of the season Saturday, Sept. 17 at home to Fryeburg. The many spectators on hand watched as the Rebels dominated most of the action but came up short on goals 2-1. The Rebels led in shots on goal 20-9 and corner kicks 4-1 but the important statistics, the score, favored the Fryeburg Raiders.

Fryeburg got the scoreboard first when Andy Hungerauhauer converted a Lamar Seymour chip at 15:55 of the first period. Hungerauhauer scored again at 7:51 of the third period on a Doug Huplet pass.

The Rebels showed great determination, coming from behind in the fourth quarter on a Brian Whitman goal, assisted by Chuck Haines and by putting pressure on the Fryeburg defense in the closing minutes of the game to nearly tie the score and send it into overtime.

The loss left the Rebels with a 3-1 record while Fryeburg moved to 3-1.

THIS WEEK AT THE MOSES MASON HOUSE

Volunteers are the life blood of historical societies and museums and the Bethel Historical Society/Dr. Moses Mason Museum is no exception. Thousands of hours have been spent by dozens of people since the founding of the Society in 1966 and the establishment of the museum in 1974, carrying on the function of preserving and interpreting the local past, by doing research, preparing exhibits, guiding in the museum, working on special programs such as Heritage Day, demonstrating crafts, cataloging the collections, etc. One of the most useful projects undertaken recently is that of Nancy Haines Mercer who has volunteered several days each week to transcribe from microfilm the census records relating to Bethel for the period 1860 to 1910. Currently she has completed 1860, 1810, 1820, 1830, 1840, 1860 and 1870. At present she is completing the 1850 census. Lying ahead are those of 1880, 1900 and 1910. The 1890 census was lost forever in a fire in Washington, D. C. in 1921. Nancy's mother has very conscientiously typed all these records and, as an additional help to the researcher, indexed them. Census records, while not always accurate, can provide much useful data to the historian, genealogist and researcher. A profile of Bethel can be gained by examining the 1860 census, for example, since it lists each household, who was living in the household, their ages, occupations, value of real and personal estates, place of birth and level of education. Much appreciation is due Nancy and her mother for all their assistance in making the collections of the Society more available to the students of Bethel's past.

New members of the Society this week are Robert and Ellen Russell of Westwood, Mass. The Society was pleased to open the Moses Mason House meeting room to all those honoring Earlon "Bud" Paine upon his retirement from the Post Office. Nearly 250 persons attended the reception Sunday afternoon. It was particularly appropriate that he should be honored at the Moses Mason House since the first post office in Bethel was established on this site in 1815. Dr. Moses Mason was Bethel's first postmaster and recalled once that the most exciting moment in his life was when he heard the postal rider's horn for the first time, bringing the mail from Waterford in 1815.

Bethel wishes to "Bud" and Mary for a long and pleasant retirement. Additional progress toward reaching the 1983 goal for the endowment has been made this week with the contributions of Dr. David C. and Sylvia Smith, Bangor; Royden and Alice Keddy, Gorham; Donald and Arlene Brown, Bethel; Donald and Mary Sanborn Calderwood, Mesa, Ariz. To date over 200 businesses and individuals have generously provided nearly 80% of the 1983 goal.

Society Director Stanley Howe represented the Society at the quarterly meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies on Sept. 12. The meeting was held at the Society's office, 824-2908. All items should be left off at the museum before noon Saturday.

To the Editor:

I would like to commend a new resident of your town, and your police chief, for turning what could have been an unpleasant remembrance of visiting the area into a particularly heartwarming example of caring.

After a wonderful afternoon of exploring Step Falls in Newry, I inadvertently (to my embarrassment!) left my pocketbook on the top of my car at dusk, and drove off. Discovering the loss 20 miles down the road, my companion and I drove back to the parking area with a flashlight with no success. We called the state police from Newry, and were told that the pocketbook had been found and turned into the police in Bethel.

I would first like to commend Dan Allen, newly of Gould Academy, for taking the time to pick up and bring to the police, intact, the pocketbook he noticed on the while line of Route 2.

I would like to commend Chief Stearns of the Bethel Police for meeting two distraught strangers at a place recognizable to us and easy to find, to return the pocketbook.

Both gentlemen went out of their way to be good Samaritans, and in the process have left us with a fond remembrance of the people of Maine—the land of my birth and my roots.

I thank them both.

Sincerely,
Stephanie Powell

Dear Citizens of District 63:

It is with deep regret that I recently announced my decision to resign as your State Representative from District 63 in order to accept a full-time position with the Boise Cascade Company. For the past eight years you have been the major concern in my life, but for personal reasons I believe now is the time for me to pursue a full-time career.

This decision to resign is not made any easier by the immense respect I have for you, my constituents. Since I announced my candidacy in the spring of 1976, you have been extremely supportive in helping me fulfill my role as your representative. Over the years I have been able to meet with and listen to many of you and fight for your interest in Augusta.

State government has gone through many changes in the preceding eight years, and many of my decisions and votes have been a direct result of your input. You have helped me to be a true representative of the people. I hope you will continue to stay involved.

Once again, I must thank you for your kindness and support. The people of Western Maine are amazing the finest in the State. It has been a pleasure and honor serving you in the House of Representatives.

Sincerely,
Karen L. Brown

ed. Parents were asked to take five minutes each night for drill on math facts. The math program was changed when school officials reviewed the math SAT scores compared with the student's basic ability. "There certainly was room for improvement. Speed in calculating and more training in logic definitely were called for," commented Jamison.

A review of the grading system was given along with an explanation of report forms going home for parent's information.

The milk program is being continued this year with most of the students and staff participating.

Debra Taylor explained the Reading Club. Students will be able to purchase books through a book club on a monthly basis thereby adding to the joy in reading.

The Campbell's Labels for Education program was presented by Mary Marion. The students have started a collection drive with a goal of obtaining electronic learning aids.

An Open House will be held Oct. 28 and the public is invited to attend.

Gilead— Louise Loring, Corres. —

How to stay on a diet when no one else is? I've read countless articles on the subject—but out of sheer desperation I want to share my own thoughts with you on the subject gleaned from my own personal experience.

No. 1: Be a Grouch! No one will: a. Ask you out for dinner; b. Offer you a drink; c. Bake you a birthday cake, or d. Slip you a box of chocolate covered cherries at Christmas time. (This I find helps keep me on my toes — fat and pudgy though they be.)

No. 2: Threaten all those in your household that from this day forth you are burning up (i.e. throwing out) all junk food left laying innocently around the house. (These are set as booby traps for you.) I have fallen for this little trick before only to learn that the antiques in question had been previously meticulously counted, and my overeating of one or two chips or peanuts had been embarrassingly discovered. After an encounter of this kind— you will enjoy seeing their little treats burn!

No. 3: Become miser at the market. Buy only low priced meats sparingly (preferably fish or chicken), one tiny loaf of bread, eggs and juices. (The bag boy will be delighted as he sprains his lower torso every week lugging out your many boxes.)

No. 4: Keep a $\frac{1}{4}$ -cup measure at the table by your plate. See how many baked beans you can cram into it. It's entertaining for you—and never ceases to amaze those around you. (Incidentally in all their macho wisdom our better halves know to a bean just how many it takes!!!)

No. 5: When invited out to another couple's home for the evening—insist the hostess only serve white wine (60 to 90 calories a glass depending upon the vintage). Carefully prepare your own munchies before hand—carving little carrots into the shapes of chips and peanuts—and bring your own little can of tomato juice to dip them in. You will look like a martyr and perhaps with a little luck you won't be invited back to their annual Oktoberfest.

These hints—if carefully followed will insure your success—the thin you will gradually emerge from its imprisonment of Flab.

Then One Day (two years later) when Hubby says, why don't you go slip into something more comfortable, you'll realize—"Grousing it's been worth it."

Congratulations to the pit crew, consisting of Mike McKenney, Raymond Morris and an unknown good Samaritan from Dixfield. Scot walked away with two trophies and a purse of money. Good going Scot!

MET WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 14

The Bethel Senior Citizens met on Sept. 14 at the Rumford Point Church with 92 members and guests present. Maude Danforth had charge of the registration book.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Muriel Faudi. A special welcome was extended to Leroy and Marian Thurston of Rumford, David Major of Mechanic Falls, Minola Hutchinson of Norway and Ina and Ernest Mundt. Ann Stotts introduced her guest, Cecile Ceibert of Bethel.

Rev. Millett Cummings offered the opening prayer followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Peggy Coddridge, co-sunshine chairman, reported that one sympathy and six get-well cards had been sent.

Maude Danforth, chairman of the fund-raising committee, announced that a silent auction will be planned for the October meeting. All members are urged to contribute to it.

Lindley Wieden informed the group that the annual WOCC meeting will be held on Oct. 28, at Murray Hall in Livermore Falls. A business meeting at 11 a. m. will be followed by a banquet.

Irene Pike, the program chairman, thanked all those who helped make the pot-luck dinner in August a success. The next meeting will be held on Oct. 12 in the town hall in Bryant Pond. She reminded those present that the November meeting will take place in the evening at the Bethel Inn.

Harold Powell announced that a trip to the Maine Mall will be planned some time early this fall. Because of a lack of interest in the Newfield trip at this time, it will be postponed until next year, when it will be reconsidered.

Carolyn Brooks distributed leaflets in regard to cancer risks. She suggested that Philip Faudi be given a card shower in honor of his birthday, Sept. 28. His address is: Ledgerview Memorial Home, West Paris, Maine 04289.

David Major, the guest speaker, mentioned a trip to the Castle in the Clouds that is being planned by the Mechanic Falls Senior Citizens. For any senior citizen who might be interested, the bus will leave the American Legion Hall in South Paris at 7:45 a. m. and the Grange Hall in Oxford at 8:15.

Safe Tip of the Week

Hunting season will soon be here. So here are a few true sportsmen's tips to keep in mind:

(1) Treat your gun with respect, always be careful where you point the muzzle; (2) Keep the safety on until ready to fire at a positive target; (3) Never shoot at water or a hard surface as the bullet may ricochet; (4) Load your gun only when in the field or woods. Never climb or jump over obstacles with a loaded gun; (5) Unload your gun when not in use and have the action open. Store your guns and ammunition separately; (6) Keep your equipment in excellent condition and always use the proper load for your gun.

The Selectmen met Sept. 13 and reviewed the forms returned by land owners on the Forest Fire Suppression Tax. One copy of these forms must be signed by the Selectmen and returned to the land owner by Sept. 15, and one copy returned to the state by Oct. 15. Landowners will be assessed a tax of 26.4 cents per acre on protected acreage, to help pay the cost of fighting forest fires. Of the 61 forms sent out by the Assessors, 10 have not been returned to date.

Failure on the part of the land owner to return the forms by Sept. 1, bars him from a right to appeal the acreage quoted by the Assessors. This new tax replaces the former Forestry District Tax. The State valuation for Newry, set by the State Bureau of Taxation is $10,500,000, an increase of approximately the valuation for FY '83. Part of this increase is due to increased Tree Growth Values, part to new valuation, mostly at the Sunday River Skiway, and part to inflation. The Selectmen felt that the increase was justified and will not appeal. A warrant was made to pay the S.A.D. 44 payment, due Sept. 20, and other current bills.

Total State valuations for the five towns in S.A.D. 44 for FY '84 is $10,850,000 an increase of 5.32% over 1983 and 31.7% over 1980. The Town with the largest percentage increase over the five year period was Newry, with an increase of 43.8%. Greenwood had the steepest increase, with 22.7%. State valuations for the five towns for FY '84 are, Andover, $20,100,000, up 3.73% over 1983 and 39.1% over 1980; Bethel, $41,250,000, up 6.72% over 1983 and 34.1% over 1980; Greenwood, $17,850,000, up 3.08% over 1983 and 22.7% over 1980; Newry, $10,500,000, up 9.52% over 1983 and 43.8% over 1980; Woodstock, $21,150,000, up 3.31% over 1983 and 23.7% over 1980. State valuations for two towns not in S.A.D. 44, but with children attending schools in the District on a tuition basis, are, Gilford, $4,850,000, and Upton, $3,350,000. This is an increase of 21.3% for Gilford and 39.2% for Upton over the five year period.

NEW PUBLICATION
REVIEWS FARM ENERGY CONSERVATION STRATEGIES

According to researchers at the Maine Department of Agriculture, energy conservation is an increasingly important factor in the economic success of farming operations. A new handbook published by the Department indicates that many Maine farmers have made substantial progress in reducing their energy costs in recent years through strategies ranging from the use of solar heat and wind power to "no-till" planting techniques and integrated pest management systems.

In the new handbook, "Saving Energy in Rural Maine: or Who's Doing What on the Farm," more than 25 different types of energy conservation strategies are reviewed. Information under each category includes descriptions of the technologies, a directory of farmers using each method, estimated costs, paybacks, and potential problems. Available on request from the Department, the handbook should be especially useful to farmers but also contains information of interest to rural homeowners in general.

"We feel the energy conservation techniques and trends discussed in the handbook are very significant to the future of farming in Maine," says Bill Seekin, the Department Research Associate who co-authored the publication with Staff Assistant Bethine Blanchard.

"Farmers are being increasingly squeezed economically. In general, the prices they receive for what they produce have not kept up with the rate of inflation and overall increases in the cost of production. Energy is major cost for some types of farmers and, of course, energy costs have increased dramatically over the past decade. Reducing energy costs is one of the primary options a farmer has for improving his economic situation and making ends meet."

"The handbook was developed on the recommendation of an Energy Task Force appointed by Agriculture Commissioner Stewart N. Smith. During 1981, the Task Force reviewed the direct and indirect use of energy by Maine farmers and discussed major options for reducing farm energy costs. The Task Force determined that some of Maine's commodity groups are particularly energy intensive and could especially benefit from conservation strategies. For example, direct uses of fuel and electricity account for about 13% of the expenses of a typical dairy farm. An additional 33% of a dairy farmer's expenses are attributable to indirect energy costs for farm chemicals and grain, both of which require energy to produce and transport.

In 1981, energy accounted for about 70% of the cost of producing blueberries, including the costs of fuel for trucks, tractors and other equipment and for nearly one million gallons of oil formerly used to burn Maine blueberry fields each year.

The handbook describes how Maine farmers are using modern energy conservation strategies to

Gould's 148th Year

Headmaster William P. Clough III welcomed faculty, staff, new and returning students to the campus, as Gould Academy began its 148th school year. Student enrollment stands at 202, of which 87 are at the school for the first time. This diverse group represents 25 states, the District of Columbia and 12 foreign countries. The state providing the most students is, of course, Maine. These 82 Maine students represent 41% of the total student body. In addition, 9% come from Massachusetts, 5% from New York and 5% from New Hampshire.

Gould participates in a Foreign Exchange program with three countries, Germany, France and Spain, and there are four exchange students attending Gould this year. Four Gould students are currently spending the fall term in Europe, and three more will travel overseas during the winter term.

Other foreign countries represented by students at Gould this year are Canada, Norway, Saudi Arabia, Cambodia, The Bahamas, Austria, Bermuda and the United Arab Emirates.

At the opening school assembly Mr. Clough, who is new to Gould, this being his first year as Headmaster, outlined his goals and direction for the ensuing year. He substantially reduce their direct and indirect energy costs. A growing number of dairy farmers, for instance, have turned to such innovations as passive solar, calf hutches, gravity-flow manure storage systems, new conservation-oriented minimum tillage and "no-till" methods as an alternative to standard plowing and cultivating techniques, and heat recovery systems that use the heat removed from milk during refrigeration to produce hot water. Many blueberry operations have significantly decreased their energy costs since 1981 by using "till mowers" for pruning as an alternative to burning and by employing integrated pest management techniques to reduce their use of costly pesticides.

These and many other conservation strategies appropriate to various crop and livestock farming operations—including the use of wind power, wood heat, solar greenhouses, and the production of alcohol, methane and other alternative fuels from farm wastes—are described in the handbooks. Single copies are available on request from the Department. Multi-copy are available for the cost of printing. SMOKING CESSATION CLINIC
STARTING OCT. 12

School is back in session and full with all of its activities is in full swing. Why not consider changing your lifestyle now that the lazy days of summer are over?

The Bethel Area Health Center will be sponsoring a smoking cessation clinic starting on Oct. 12. The first session will be strictly an orientation and no fee will be charged. Subsequent sessions will start on Monday, Oct. 17. For further information, including fee schedule, please call Marni Whaley at the Health Center, 824-2193.

The main theme of the program is not to label failures or successes, but to try and try again as the T.V. commercial states. Smoking is an addiction and any addictive habit is difficult but not impossible to change.
